See How They Prep

By Jeremy Plonk Horseplayernow.com Analyst

The 1-1/8 miles preps are all-important -- especially when you consider that since 1986, every Kentucky Derby champion except Charismatic exited a 9-furlong final tune-up. How strongly horses finish in these preps often is a key indicator as to how they might handle the extra furlong at Churchill Downs.

Sunland Derby (March 22): Over a fast strip, FIRING LINE crushed by more than 14 lengths in track-record time of 1:47.39. While the margin may taint his come-home time, note that the 38.37 final 3 furlongs was slower than that of recent winners of this race. A fourth-quarter breather was punctuated by a solid final furlong in 12.79.

Florida Derby (March 28): Over a loose and deep racetrack, MATERIALITY won a slow edition in 1:52.30. Trakus timing caught him in 39.79 for the final 3 furlongs and 13.73 for the final furlong. This is not what you expect to see at Gulfstream historically, but conditions did not play to fast times.

Louisiana Derby (March 28): INTERNATIONAL STAR rallied to beat pacesetter STANFORD in 1:50.67. The winner ran the final furlong in 12.73 and the final 3 furlongs in about 36.55 -- both splits are far quicker than the previous year's Fair Grounds showcase.

Wood Memorial (April 4): While the final time of 1:50.31 was on the slow side for the Wood historically, FROSTED heated up late in approximately 12.45 for the final furlong and 36.20 for the final 3 furlongs. Note that those behind him actually lost ground to the winner.

Santa Anita Derby (April 4): DORTMUND stopped the clock in 1:48.73 for a wire-to-wire victory. He ran a 12.95 final furlong and a 38.36 final 3 furlongs according to Trakus. This was nowhere near the 36.71 final 3 furlongs put up by California Chrome a year prior.

Blue Grass (April 4): CARPE DIEM took care of business with a press-and-pounce trip in 1:49.95 over Keeneland's new dirt surface. Trakus had his splits in 12.85 for the final furlong and 37.52 over the last 3 furlongs. Note that runner-up DANZIG MOON finished with nearly identical splits.

Arkansas Derby (April 11): Odds-on favorite AMERICAN PHAROAH got a first-over run and blew them away in 1:48.52. He tallied the final 3 furlongs in about 37.78 and the final furlong in 12.58 while eased up late. FAR RIGHT's rally was not an illusion as he clocked about 37.68 and 12.28 splits while finishing up well.

Wood Not

Since Funny Cide and Empire Maker swept the Kentucky Derby exacta in 2003, Wood Memorial alumni are a combined 24: 0-0-0 in the race. Wicked Strong managed fourth in 2014.

Workout Analysis

By Gary Young Private Clocker

Overall Impressions

Below are my thoughts as of Thursday, April 16. Earlier this season I thought the Kentucky Derby winner would come from west of the Rockies. I haven't seen anything so far to change my mind. Now, it's off to Louisville and training at Churchill Downs.

American Pharoah

He just might be the best horse to surface in a long time. I wasn't worried about him relaxing. He had a gate work before the Rebel that showed he could lay off a target and then kick. Fusaichi Pegasus and Point Given looked fantastic, but they had issues. American Pharoah could be the greatest since Spectacular Bid!

Dortmund

I've liked this one for a long time. In fact, I tried to buy him at the sale. He's an exceedingly big horse and he surprises people by being as quick as he is for a large horse. There's been some concern about what's going to happen if he breaks poorly because he's so big and all, but I've never seen him do anything but put that big head out of the gate first. He's a good horse.

Firing Line

I've seen him work a couple of times since he ran at Sunland and he looks good. He came out of that race unbelievably well.

Carpe Diem

He's a really good horse. There's some talk about soundness issues, but we haven't seen anything like that. His races have been fine.

Frosted

Trainer Kiaran McLaughlin had the throat surgery done on this one and, man, he looked good in the Wood. Joel Rosario never moved on him through the stretch. He ran terrific and wasn't asked.

Materiality & Upstart

The Florida Derby horses ran better than they looked. The figures support that. They looked tired coming down the stretch, but that may have been a function of the track more than anything else.

Know This:

Welcome Back, Boss

After missing out on the entire decades of the 1980s and 1990s, the Kentucky Derby post-time favorite now has won 6 times since 2000.

Dynamic Regions

Over the past decade, nine Derby winners wintered in Florida or California – all except Mine That Bird from New Mexico in 2009.

Insider Rip-Off

Not only has the rail horse failed to win the Derby since Ferdinand in 1986, no horse breaking from posts 1, 2 and 3 has scored since Real Quiet in 1998.

Rider's Up

Four active jockeys have won multiple Kentucky Derbies – Calvin Borel (3), Kent Desormeaux (3), Gary Stevens (3), Victor Espinoza (2).

Not So Sweet 17

Post 17 remains the only post position never to produce a Kentucky Derby champion. Candy Boy left from the unlucky starting spot in 2014.

Meet The 2015 Derby Contenders

by Johnny D Xpressbet.com

American Pharoah

He's the likely Kentucky Derby favorite off a scintillating win in the Arkansas Derby. Before that he galloped home more than six lengths clear in the Rebel Stakes. He has speed, but he's not a crazy front-runner and he can carry that speed a long way. Coming to the finish of the Arkansas Derby, he was virtually eased up while still striding out toward the finish. Except for a flat race first time out at Del Mar when he finished fifth, American Pharoah has been unbeaten in four subsequent starts, including three Grade 1 events, and he's won each of those races by at least three lengths. His trainer, Bob Baffert, has won three previous Kentucky Derbies—Silver Charm, Real Quiet and War Emblem—and his jockey has won two runs for the roses—War Emblem and California Chrome.

Dortmund

Bob Baffert trains Dortmund and regular rider Martin Garcia will be aboard again for the Kentucky Derby. That combination has been unbeatable so far with Dortmund, a perfect six for six, including a pair of Grade 1 victories in the Los Alamitos Futurity and the Santa Anita Derby. If you find it difficult to imagine that an unbeaten horse will not start as the favorite in the Kentucky Derby, you get how owner Kaleem Shah feels about this huge, muscular son of Big Brown. Dortmund has a racing style that should find him close to the early pace and not too far behind stable mate American Pharoah.

Carpe Diem

Trainer Todd Pletcher traditionally leads all trainers nationally in money earned. He's got a stable full of runners and, perhaps, will saddle up to five sophomores in this year's Kentucky Derby. Carpe Diem is the most accomplished of the Pletcher bunch. He won his first two starts before finishing a well-beaten second to Texas Red in the Breeders' Cup Juvenile. Earlier this year, Carpe Diem dominated the Tampa Bay Derby and then had a sterling final Derby prep when winning the Blue Grass Stakes at Keeneland. Carpe Diem is workmanlike in his races and lacks the flash of his California-based competitors. However, this one shouldn't be taken lightly in Louisville.

Mubtaahij

The winner of the UAE Derby in Dubai doesn't always come to Louisville to contest the Kentucky Derby. If he does ship halfway around the world to take on America's best 3-year-olds, he usually isn't taken very seriously. That's all a bit different this year as Mubtaahij is here for internationally renown trainer Mike de Kock. By virtue of a strong UAE Derby win, Mubtaahij has earned a shot at roses. And he's got the right sit-and-kick style to be a threat. The distance doesn't appear as if it will bother him at all and his probable jockey Christophe Soumillon is top notch. One big question surrounds the quick early pace Mubtaahij is likely to face for the first time in his career. Another sticking point may be the questionable level of competition he's faced previously on the international stage.

Materiality

This accomplished son of Afleet Alex is unbeaten in three races. In fact, in those races no one's ever really been close to him at the finish. Materiality did get a stern test when he and Upstart tussled for a good part of the Florida Derby, but the decision went to this lightly-raced, Todd Pletcher-trained colt. Quickly moving forward from unknown to Derby contender, Materiality won his maiden on January 11 at Gulfstream going six furlongs in the slop. He then stepped out going a mile and one-eighth in a $60,000 stakes race and dominated. That triumph led to his Florida Derby score. It must be noted that Materiality is running headfirst into one of the most potent Derby hexes. No horse since 1882 has won the Kentucky Derby without first racing as a 2-year-old.

Firing Line

Some would argue that if you like Dortmund, you must have a favorable opinion of Firing Line. The pair hooked up twice previously and were separated by a mere head on each occasion. Since their last meeting, Dortmund has won the San Felipe and Santa Anita Derby and Firing Line took down the Sunland Park Derby by over 14 lengths in track record time. Hall of Fame jockey Gary Stevens is expected to be in the saddle to aid Firing Line's Derby chances. Stevens has won the Louisville main event three times.

First Bayern, Now Dortmund

by Bob Neumeier NBC Sports Reporter

Analysis: Now that Bayern has swept the Breeders' Cup Classic, it's time for another German province to win the 2015 Kentucky Derby. DORTMUND is a huge, strapping, muscular colt who has never been beaten. Never! He's also a son of Derby winner Big Brown, who himself was unbeaten before his fiasco at Belmont Park.

Main Contenders: This will be DORTMUND's toughest test. But he's whipped three horses that entered preparatory races with solid speed figures – FIRING LINE, BOLO and the since-sidelined Prospect Park. Trainer Bob Baffert's "other" runner, AMERICAN PHAROAH, looks terrific. Trainer Todd Pletcher ventures into Louisville with a stacked hand, but he's just 1-for-40 in Derby ventures.

Value Plays: Toteboard watching is crucial. Here are my pre-Derby odds at less than 20-1 (before post positions are drawn). DORTMUND, AMERICAN PHAROAH 9-2; FIRING LINE, CARPE DIEM 6-1; MATERIALITY 8-1; FROSTED, UPSTART 10-1; INTERNATIONAL STAR 12-1; and MUBTAAHIJ 15-1. Any runners that are higher odds than listed get my attention in the Win pool. On paper, FROSTED and INTERNATIONAL STAR should run off the pace, an advantage. Other front-running types will be compromised if they get the dreaded 1-2-3 posts or even the auxiliary gate (wide, outside).

Perfect Season Rolls Along

by Mike Battaglia NBC Sports Reporter

Analysis: This year's Derby field looks like one of the strongest in recent years, but the first thing that jumps out at you when looking at the PPs is that all of the favorites have one thing in common – they do their best running on or near the lead. I normally would be looking for a closer to spring the upset, but the “speed” horses in this Derby are anything but normal. Bob Baffert's runners both look strong, and could be the first one-two Derby finishers for the same trainer since Citation and Coaltown in 1948.

Main Contenders: AMERICAN PHAROAH and DORTMUND have looked spectacular in their preps for Baffert and both seem to be coming into the Derby ready for their best efforts. AMERICAN PHAROAH hasn't been tested in either of his wins this year, while the Arkansas Derby was visually impressive. DORTMUND is the more seasoned of the two, and is a proven fighter who doesn't know how to lose. CARPE DIEM hasn't shown the flash of the top two, but the Todd Pletcher charge has done very little wrong – and the presence of Johnny V always is a plus. MATERIALITY is undefeated in three career starts. The lack of seasoning makes him vulnerable, but he definitely has a ton of talent. FROSTED showed a new dimension coming off of the pace to win the Wood and may be peaking at the right time.

Value Plays: DORTMUND is a perfect 6-for-6, owns a win over the Churchill strip, and yet he may be the second choice behind his stablemate. He is worth a win bet if he stays around 4-1. MUBTAAHIJ may not have beaten much in Dubai, but he did it impressively and trainer Mike de Kock has won races all over the world and wouldn't be here if he didn't think he had a chance. FIRING LINE just missed against DORTMUND twice and his jockey, Gary Stevens, knows how to ride a Derby horse.

Wagering Strategies ($100):

American Pharoah Dynasty Grows

by Jeff Siegel Racing Analyst

Analysis: The cold, hard form doesn't lie. The eye test confirms. AMERICAN PHAROAH, last year's champion two-year-old and apparently better at age three, appears to have become untouchable. He's won four consecutive graded stakes in thoroughly dominating style while earning triple-digit Beyer figures in each of his victories. Though he had little behind him in his two most recent wins, the Pioneer of the Nile colt destroyed high-quality competition twice during his juvenile campaign; so there should be no doubting his class. He's a gifted athlete with fluid, rhythmic action, and he possesses the mindset that allows for gate-to-wire dominance or a stalk-and-pounce approach. Of course, he could lose – anything can happen in a horse race – but as things currently stand, there is simply no way to beat him.

Main Contenders: It's almost impossible to find fault with DORTMUND's perfect six-for-six record; he's already won over the Churchill Downs main track and he's fast enough on numbers to be considered within shouting distance of AMERICAN PHAROAH. He would seem to be every bit as talented as last year's Derby winner, California Chrome, and in most years an undefeated Santa Anita Derby winner would be a strong favorite to win the "Run for the Roses." Furthermore, the son of Big Brown is a strong, impressive specimen with a ceiling that may not yet have been reached. But here's the difference: when trainer Bob Baffert speaks of DORTMUND, he does so with respect and admiration. When Baffert speaks of AMERICAN PHAROAH, he does so with awe and disbelief.

Value Plays: If you can somehow get 5-2 on AMERICAN PHAROAH, take it and be happy. If you're looking for a slightly bigger hit, consider FROSTED and INTERNATIONAL STAR underneath in the trifecta. FROSTED won a stronger Wood Memorial than I originally gave him credit for, and employed a closing style that should work just fine at a mile and one-quarter. While his Fair Grounds form might not be something to completely trust, INTERNATIONAL STAR also should be finishing and projects for at least a minor award.

Wagering Strategies ($100):

- $80 Win: AMERICAN PHAROAH ($80)
- $10 Trifecta Part-Wheel: AMERICAN PHAROAH with DORTMUND with FROSTED and INTERNATIONAL STAR ($20)

Pharoah Rules

by Jon White Santa Anita Morning Line Oddsmaker

Analysis: If everyone runs his best race, I think the winner most likely will be AMERICAN PHAROAH. Even before AMERICAN PHAROAH's first race, trainer Bob Baffert was raving about the son of Pioneerof the Nile (runner-up in the 2009 Derby) and grandson of Empire Maker (runner-up in the 2003 Derby). Ever since AMERICAN PHAROAH finished fifth in his career debut, he has been unstoppable while winning each race with authority and looking rather Seattle Slew-like to me in terms of pure talent. INTERNATIONAL STAR's speed figures aren't as good as several, but his come-from-behind style in a race loaded with runners who typically race on or near the early lead makes him dangerous. Also, in INTERNATIONAL STAR's most-recent two victories in Louisiana, he was first or second each time with a furlong to go. And 49 of the last 52 winners have been first or second with a furlong to go in the Kentucky Derby.

Main Contenders: AMERICAN PHAROAH (Arkansas Derby winner), INTERNATIONAL STAR (Louisiana Derby winner), DORTMUND (undefeated Santa Anita Derby winner) and CARPE DIEM (Blue Grass winner) are the main contenders as I see it. But I also think MATERIALITY (undefeated Florida Derby winner), FROSTED (Wood Memorial winner), FIRING LINE (Sunland Derby winner), MUBTAAHIJ (UAE Derby winner) and UPSTART (Florida Derby runner-up) should be accorded respect as members of what certainly appears to be the strongest class of three-year-olds in many years.

Value Plays: INTERNATIONAL STAR and UPSTART both figure to offer excellent value because they might make a lot of noise at probably higher than 10-1 and perhaps even in the neighborhood of 15-1.

Baffert Derby Roar Resumes

by Dick Jerardi Daily Racing Form Columnist

Analysis: This is the most competitive Derby in years. Favorites won almost all of the major prep races. The best horses ran to their best form race after race. Many of the best horses have early speed, but none of them appear to be need-the-lead types. Trainers Bob Baffert and Todd Pletcher may have the top four favorites in the field. Nearly half the field has hit triple digits on the Beyer scale. The most intriguing question is: How will horses that have been dominant all spring deal with facing horses of similar talent? The horse that can survive that test is the most likely winner. Trips, good and bad, will be critical, because all of these similarly-styled horses can't all occupy the same in-the-clear, near-the-lead space.

Main Contenders: AMERICAN PHAROAH missed two months of training time, but confirmed his 2-year-old form with a pair of blowout wins in Arkansas. His Arkansas Derby win may have been the most visually impressive of the spring, but there was not much in the race. DORTMUND is unbeaten in six races and has won every kind of way – in front, just off the pace, wide rally, re-rally. There is no more tested horse in the race. CARPE DIEM has not hit triple digits on the Beyer scale yet, but has looked brilliant in his two 2015 wins. MATERIALITY arrives with the best Beyer (110) and the least experience. UPSTART has never run poorly in seven races and could be the beneficiary if there is a pace meltdown.

Value Plays: FIRING LINE is less than a length from being unbeaten in five starts. He lost to DORTMUND twice, each time by a head. DORTMUND is going to be the second choice. This horse could be 20-1 or more.

Wagering Strategies ($100):

Mix'n Match

In the last 10 Derbies, 15 of the top four finishers have been 20-1 odds or greater and 16 of the top four finishers have been single-digit odds. It would seem that price horses have as good a chance as favorites to fill the Derby superfecta.

Walk Like An Egyptian?

by Steve Byk At the Races with Steve Byk (SiriusXM) Host

Analysis: Since 2000, heavy Derby favorites (those sent off between $5-$7) have had a 50% success rate with California Chrome ($7), Big Brown ($6.80) and Fusaichi Pegasus ($6.60) winning, and Point Given (5th at 9-5), Empire Maker (2nd at 5-2) and Bellamy Road (7th at 5-2) falling short. Despite the '15 edition of this race boasting a distinctly talented set of sophomores, AMERICAN PHAROAH will carry the burden of being the strong public choice while earning the distinction via a path of modest resistance so far this year. He may prove out, but it's worth playing against him.

Main Contenders: AMERICAN PHAROAH's stablemate, DORTMUND, arrives for Derby undefeated, as did his sire Big Brown. Though on the lead in his 2015 starts, he can be comfortable without it and has shown authentic tenacity when confronted in the lane. He is the contender most recommended for use as a key in the top slots. Unraced at 2, unbeaten Florida Derby winner MATERIALITY is being compared to Curlin (3rd in '07 Derby in 4th career start) and may prove best long-term in this crop. Blue Grass hero CARPE DIEM will go off as the third choice and has met every expectation while building a 5: 4-1-0 record.

Value Plays: Three NY-breds will be attractive prices. UPSTART (longshot) is as brilliant and talented as any here, but a brief illness has cooled ardor for him. INTERNATIONAL STAR (longer-shot) has been accused of dream trips under Miguel Mena, but his relentless style can snare a piece. TENCENDUR (longest-shot) has improved with every start for proficient trainer George Weaver, returns to smart, emergent jockey Manny Franco and has a stalking gear to sit behind the speed. MUBTAAHIJ is a wild card for savvy international training star Mike de Kock and will be fit for the task after two 9.5F runs at Meydan.

Wagering Strategies ($100):

- $0.50 Trifecta Part-Wheel: DORTMUND with TENCENDUR, MATERIALITY, MUBTAAHIJ, UPSTART, AMERICAN PHAROAH with ALL ($45)
- $0.50 Trifecta part-wheel: TENCENDUR, MATERIALITY, MUBTAAHIJ, UPSTART, AMERICAN PHAROAH with DORTMUND with ALL ($45)
